The Native CDFI Network (NCN) asks Congress to provide $250 million to support CDFI Fund programs and activities in FY 2017 and in FY 2018 with at least $16 million set aside to fund the CDFI Fund’s Native American CDFI Assistance (NACA) initiatives.

In addition, NCN asks Congress to include language in the FY 2017 and FY 2018 Financial Services and General Government Appropriations bill to waive the non-federal match requirement (section 108(e) of Public Law 103–325) for Native CDFIs seeking NACA funding. The private match requirement was waived for Native CDFIs in the FY 2016 omnibus appropriations bill and both the House and Senate Appropriations Committees reported out FY 2017 bills that waived the match requirement for Native CDFIs.

Program Description and Justification for FY17 & FY18 Request

The Community Development Financial Institutions Fund (CDFI Fund) was established within the U.S. Department of Treasury in 1994<sup>2</sup> to promote community development in economically distressed urban and rural communities by investing in and growing Community Development Financial Institutions (CDFIs) across the country.

In 2001, the CDFI Fund published The Native American Lending Study, which identified 17 major barriers to investment in Native Communities and offered recommendations aimed at overcoming the barriers and generating economic opportunity in Indian country. The Fund’s study affirmed the importance of developing Native CDFIs as institutions focused on and responsive to American Indian, Alaskan Native and Native Hawaiian communities. With this in mind, the CDFI Fund created programs specifically designed to support the creation and expansion of Native CDFIs and help Native Communities thrive and grow by increasing their access to credit, capital, and financial services.

Through the CDFI Fund’s Native American CDFI Assistance (NACA) Program financial assistance and technical assistance awards are made on a competitive basis to Native CDFIs. These monetary awards allow Native CDFIs to effectively pursue a variety of goals - from small business development and job creation to affordable housing development - all focused on building wealth and economic self-determination in Native Communities

Since 2002, the CDFI Fund has made 484 awards totaling $142.5 million to Native CDFIs. These awards have resulting in over 27,500 loans and investments generating $757.4 million in economic activity in Native Communities.

Native CDFIs have proven to be effective engines of economic growth and empowerment. Since the launch of NACA the number of certified Native CDFIs has grown from 7 to 73 with still more organizations seeking certification. It is critical that the CDFI Fund's NACA program is adequately funded to support the work of established and emerging Native CDFIs. It is also critical that the non-federal match required by statute is waived for Native CDFIs seeking NACA funding. Native communities are unserved or underserved by conventional financial institutions and private foundations, the two most common source of CDFI matching funds, and unless the match is waived Native CDFIs are unable to access the funding made available through NACA.
